

THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN.

No. 57, Vol. 3.

NEW WESTMINSTER, SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1863.

Price 6d. or 12 cts.

THIS JOURNAL is published every Wednesday and Saturday morning, and is distributed by Mail and Express to all parts of these Colonies, Washington Territory, Oregon, California, the Eastern Provinces and Great Britain. The strictest care is taken to procure authentic information from all the mining districts of British Columbia, and every exertion made to obtain reliable statistics respecting the country generally.

The British Columbian.

NEW WESTMINSTER, SATURDAY, AUG. 29, 1863.

A Good Story.

Mr. Lincoln is not the only one who has a knack of telling funny anecdotes; at least so we infer by the following, which we find in the last letter of "Major Jack Downing." The Major is narrating a conversation with a neighbor: "Well," says I, "Deacon, there had not been any war at all, but," says I, "while the South have had a single end and purpose, we've been all odds and ends. The war has been carried on by us just like old Sol Pendegrast's boy plowed. Old Sol took his eldest boy Adam, a thick-headed feller, out one spring, and set him to plowing. He told him to go to work and strike a furrow across a field to a black heifer and then keep on. After giving this direction, old Sol went into the house and left Adam alone. The boy started his oxen in a bee line for the black heifer, but when he got pretty close to her she threw up her tail and run off in another direction. Adam thought he must follow the heifer, no matter where she went; so he struck another bee line for her, and with just the same result. When he got up close to her the heifer gave another frisk of her tail, and off she went. Adam geed his oxen around and struck for her again; and so he kept on all day. "At night the old man came out to see how Adam had got along. He found the field all cut up with furrows, zig-zag, criss-cross, and in every direction, and asked what on earth it meant. "Wall," said the thick-headed numskull, "you told me to steer for the black heifer, and I've done it all day, and the durned critter wouldn't stand still, and the furrows are kinder criss-cross, see." "Now," says I, "that is just what Linkin has been doin'." Gregey told him to steer for the nigger, and the result has been like Adam Pennergrast's plowin'. There's a considerable fightin' been done, but it is all criss-cross, zig-zag, and don't amount to nothing, and so it will be to the end of the chapter."

OLD BOSTON NOTABLES.—The Boston Traveler lately gave some interesting paragraphs upon living links connecting that city with the last century. Among them were the Hon. William Foster, (since deceased,) whose faculties at the age of 91 were still active. This gentleman lived during three important periods in the history of the world—the American Revolution, the French Revolution and the Southern Rebellion. He was a resident of France and witnessed some of the horrors of that terrible struggle. Another of the venerable Bostonians alluded to was Josiah Quincy, Sr., who in his 92d year, with intellect still unclouded. The Rev. Mr. Cleveland, the well known city missionary there, is now 91 years of age, but is still active in his benevolent vocation. On one day lately he paid no less than 26 visits to the houses of the destitute, relieving their sufferings and encouraging them in the struggle to better their condition. Lord Lyndhurst, also a Boston boy, but now a member of the British House of Lords and of the Privy Council of England, was 91 years of age in May. Mrs. Gardiner Greene is still living in her home in Boston. She is 92 years of age. The Traveler says: "It is stated as a singular fact that three persons who sailed from Marblehead in the year 1774 for England, two years before the American Declaration of Independence, are still living. Boston at that time was closed by order of the British Government, and hence recourse was had to the nearest open seaport. These three persons were Lord Lyndhurst and his sister, Mrs. Copley, now residing in England, and Mrs. Gardiner Greene of Boston."

PRESERVE OF MIND IN THE NEW YORK RIOTS.—The howling mob of last week espied a major of a volunteer regiment alone in one of the avenues, and gave chase. He ran, but the ruffians gained upon him, until finally he looked for a convenient shelter in order to save his life. Just ahead of him was a butcher's shop, into which he turned, divesting himself of his uniform coat and throwing it under a stall. Seizing a long knife and a cleaver, the major fell at work quietly upon a side of beef, cutting and carving it with great composure. The foremost ruffians soon rushed in, demanding to know "where that officer was," but the volunteer butcher, who by this time had got himself professionally bloody, "had seen no officer." The mob believed him, turned away, and went raging up the street in search of a new victim. But the cool major was safe.

ANOTHER FALL AT NIAGARA FALLS.—The St. Catharines Journal says that on Saturday night, the 13th inst., with a sound louder than the discharge of a park of artillery, a large section of the rock on the north or Canada side of the Niagara Falls, near Mr. Davis' Table Rock Hotel, fell into the yawning abyss below, giving the falls on that side a more decided horse shoe appearance than they had before. These frequent slides prove that those who have purchased property a short distance above the great cataract, if they live long enough, will realize handsomely from their investments, as the Falls will be at their own doors in a century or two.

NEW WESTMINSTER, SATURDAY, AUG. 23, 1863.
THE VENICE OF THE PACIFIC—HER FREE-PORT SYSTEM.

An esteem for imagination, wherever exhibited, and an old love for Bloomfield's (not the Bishop) garret written pastorals, makes us respect the poetic eye of the Editor of the Chronicle when he thinks he sees, or says he thinks he sees, a similarity between the glorious palaces arrayed by the blue lagoons of the Adriatic and the scrubby shanties which dot round the mud hole called Victoria harbor. The mental vision of an Editor is one of the most peculiar of senses, and his credulity is almost universal. He sees all that his subscribers wish him to see and believes any doctrine which increases the circulation. This admitted fact accounts for the many vagaries of imagination which get into the Victoria papers, and how emphatically they endorse the puffs of the Victoria lot dealers.

In the city of Victoria there are two classes; one who by connection with the Hudson Bay Company get certain lands into their possession, whose business it is to sell—the other the later arrivals, who, deceived by the enormous puffing of the former, are fools enough to buy. It would not do for a paper subsisting upon these classes to expose the stern truth that Victoria harbor has a smaller acreage than one Liverpool dock—less water than a common canal basin; that two-thirds of the vessels consigned there cannot get in, and that a large percentage of those which do get in are damaged in doing so; that there is no country adjacent to Victoria to support a town, and that Victoria is now solely supported by British Columbia trade, a monopoly of which Governor Douglas has temporarily given to it to give fictitious value to his own and his friends' property.

Such statements would be followed by a serious decrease of subscriptions, and as men do not like to be un deceived from their hallucinations it is likely that among the malcontents there would be fully as many of the pigeons who are being plucked as of the rooks who pluck them. Therefore the Chronicle calls Victoria the Venice of the Pacific—the future rendezvous for ocean steamers—the terminus of a continental railway, without regard to the little engineering difficulty of thirty miles of deep water; and some time since, when the so-called merchants were discursively sitting on their slop goods hoping for some Columbian miner to come along and buy a shirt or hat, the Chronicle talked of merchants and capital as if London and Amsterdam were on James' Bay, the Hopes next door and the Rothschilds just round the corner.

Victoria commenced, continues and will end in puff. Most extraordinary things have happened in that locality. Gold diggings have been found and lost, or turned out what is technically termed "salted;" thousands of acres of arable land have been surveyed on paper, but subsequently some strange geological phenomenon changed them from their fair promise of future homesteads into ugly deserts of worthless rocks. When all the shipping in Victoria were a few whiskey smugglers and a small Hudson Bay steamer the truthful(?) correspondent of the Times described the crush of vessels to be such that some had to be extricated and towed round to Esquimaux, at the same time consistently stating that Victoria harbor was unequalled—possibly with the mental reservation of "for rocks and mud banks."

To exercise what is truly to them a phantom city (New Westminster) every inlet on the coast has been in turn placarded on every wall in Victoria as the long sought desideratum—short and easy road to the mines—monopoly of the trade of Victoria, and, leaving out Cheap Johns, "now is your time to buy." That was all understood. When the lot dealers well knew that a successful port outside the Islands would draw a direct trade and kill Victoria they gullied their dupes with enchanting descriptions of Bella Coola; its climate, its soil, its everything. We cannot say whether the mountains got higher or the swamps lower, or what caused Bella Coola to yield to Bute Inlet; but it did yield, for at the latter "poor Waddy" chopped and picked, while his employers talked, wrote, forged certificates of practicability and sent their steamer Enterprise to knock a hole in her bottom. But it all ended on the hither side of an obstinate chasm in the Cascades, which would not yield to Waddy's engineering, or his employer's blarney. We do not know of any coast routes just now, but we do know that if one were found and a town spring up there, commencing a little trade for itself, the mythical bar across the mouth of the Fraser river would immediately move up there and Victoria be still the only safe port on the North West coast.

But the main support of the puffers is the free port, the knowledge of which, being in reserve, gives confidence to Victoria's friends and strikes terror into her enemies. The poor fellow who has been led into investing his all in lots, having heard that two or three coast roads have turned out shams—having read somewhere that when ships come thousands of miles with a valuable cargo they can as well go on half a day's sail nearer to their market to find a good harbor as stop short of it at a bad one—disconsolately casts his eye around, when he sees "FREE PORT" in big letters upon the wall, and is comforted. We think it bad policy and bad taste to undermine any man's belief, however fallacious, so long as it amuses him and does not hurt us; and we always feel disposed to show respect to any one's theory upon any subject, from the curative effects of brandy and salt to the incomprehensible mysteries of spirit rapping; but it is not in human nature to endure having a thing continually poked under one's nose as the nonpareil of its kind without feeling an uncharitable inclination to analyze its pretensions. We feel that inclination to analyze the free port doctrine, and we are the more urged to do so by knowing that some of our citizens, deceived by its specious theories, wish that with the pending change of affairs New Westminster may be made a free port.

In the early days, when the state of the world was aptly described by the old Celtic motto "the strong hand takes," when commerce was preyed on by ignorant power, the rulers of any petty town, no matter how disadvantageous its situation, could draw commerce there by protecting it from violent extortion, and adherence to such wise policy was sure to make that city the emporium for the less enlightened countries adjacent where no such protection was enjoyed; but as the adjacent people learned the advantages of peaceful trade they would change from being rude plunderers or ready customers into sharp competitors, and the hitherto monopolizing city would have to depend solely upon the advantages of its situation. That this was the origin and end of the great emporiums of antiquity can be deduced from comparing their alterations of fortune with contemporary events. When barbarism was almost universal "their merchants were princes;" when the march of Roman legions spread civilization those cities went down because the commerce which supported them became more evenly distributed. When northern barbarism overran the Roman Empire trade and riches again concentrated until modern civilization again spread them abroad; then all the great cities of the middle ages declined in splendor, and those unfavorably situated for commerce rapidly decayed.

From their ruins sprung the modern free port system. Men, great in irresponsible power, but small in intellect, wishing to endow some favorite towns with the riches of commerce, hearing that those declining emporiums owed their former grandeur to particular privileges, petty politicians, incapable of seeing that the days for such things had gone by, endowed the residents of these pet localities with privileges beyond their countrymen and, as a consequence, those places sprung up with a rank, hollow growth. But when death or changes deprived those cities of the sheltering hands which reared them, when the people who were wronged for their advancement came forward and said, "who are those people that they should be favored beyond us? They bear none of our burdens, why should they monopolize our trade?" then the free-ports discovered the insecurity of their position and cursed the hand which raised them to such a height but to increase the ruin in their fall.

ALL CURES MADE EASY!!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

Bad Legs, Ulcerous Sores, Bad Breasts and Old Wounds.

No description of wound, sore, or ulcer can resist the healing properties of this excellent Ointment. The worst cases readily assume a healthy appearance whenever this medicine is applied; sound flesh springs up from the bottom of the wound; inflammation of the surrounding skin is arrested, and a complete and permanent cure quickly follows the use of the Ointment.

Piles, Fistulas and Internal Inflammation.

These distressing and weakening diseases may with certainty be cured by the sufferer themselves, if they will use Holloway's Ointment, and closely attend to the printed instructions. It should be well rubbed upon the neighboring parts, when all obnoxious matter will be removed. A poultice of bread and water may sometimes be applied at bed time with advantage; and most scrupulous cleanliness must be observed. If those who read this paragraph will bring it under the notice of such of their acquaintances whom it may concern, they will render a service that will never be forgotten, as a cure is certain.

Rheumatism, Gout &amp; Neuralgia.

Nothing has the power of reducing inflammation and subduing pain in these complaints in the same degree as Holloway's cooling Ointment and purifying Pills. When used simultaneously they drive all inflammation and depravities from the system, subdue and remove all enlargement of the joints, and leave the sinews and muscles lax and uncontracted. A cure may always be effected, even under the worst circumstances, if the use of these medicines be persevered in.

Eruptions, Scald Head, Ringworm &amp; other Skin Diseases.

After fomentation with warm water, utmost relief and speediest cure can be readily obtained in all complaints affecting the skin and joints, by the simultaneous use of the Ointment and Pills. But it must be remembered that nearly all skin diseases indicate the depravity of the blood and derangement of the liver and stomach, consequently, in many cases, time is required to purify the blood, which will be effected by a judicious use of the Pills. The general health will be readily improved, although the eruption may be driven out more freely than before, and which should not be promoted; perseverance is necessary.

Sore Throats, Diphtheria, Quinsy, Mumps &amp; all other Derangements of the Throat.

On the appearance of any of these maladies the Ointment should be well rubbed at least three times a day upon the neck and upper part of the chest, so as to penetrate to the glands, as salt is forced into meat; this course will at once remove inflammation and ulceration. The worst cases will yield to this treatment by following the printed directions.

Scrofula or King's Evil and Swelling of the Glands.

This class of cases may be cured by Holloway's purifying Pills and Ointment, as their double action of purifying the blood and strengthening the system renders them more suitable than any other remedy for all complaints of a scrofulous nature. As the blood is impure the liver, stomach and bowels, being much deranged, require purifying medicine to bring about a cure.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:—

Bad Legs.	Chapped Hands.	Scalds.
Bad Breasts.	Contracted and Sore Nipples.
Burns.	Stiff Joints.	Sore-throats.
Bunions.	Elephantiasis.	Skin-diseases.
Bite of Mosquitoes.	Fistulas.	Scurvy.
and Sand-Flies.	Gout.	Sore-heads.
Coco-bay.	Glandular Swellings.	Tumors.
Chico-foot.	Lungs.	Ulcers.
Corns (soft).	Piles.	Wounds.
Cancers.	Rheumatism.	Yaws.
Chilblains.

Sold at the establishment of PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY 244, Strand, (near Temple Bar) London; and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicines throughout the civilized world, at the following prices:—1s. 1jd., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., 11s., 22s., and 33s. each Pot.

* * * There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N.B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each Pot. au15

Important to Business Men in Victoria, California, Portland, and Places on the Sound!

The British Columbian.

NEW WESTMINSTER, SATURDAY, AUG. 29, 1863.

Startling Intelligence from the Interior.

Murder of one man and narrow escape of another!!

Capt. Taylor, of Seaton Lake, and Mr. Clegg, the chief clerk of the firm of Dodge & Co., left Cariboo on the 11th inst., the former having about $5000 in his possession. When riding along the road near the 141 mile post, within half a mile of Murphy's house, two men sprang out of the bushes, and seizing the horses by the bridle, commenced firing upon them. Several shots were fired at Capt. Taylor, some of which took effect upon his horse, he also firing upon and wounding the robber. His horse becoming unmanageable from the effect of the wounds freed himself from the grasp of the robber, and, springing into the woods, became entangled in the thicket for some time. Poor Clegg, less fortunate than his comrade, fell under the fire of his antagonist and died on the spot. Meanwhile the robbers took the alarm and fled through the woods. Major Thorp happened to come up almost immediately after the affray and Capt. Taylor followed their trail, observing blood by the way, they came to a place where the wounded scoundrel had pulled some moss from a tree, evidently for the purpose of staunching the blood, as there was none observable beyond that point. He had also divested himself of a revolver and knife, which they picked up. Beyond this point, however, they could not succeed in tracing them, so they retraced their steps and gave the alarm in the neighborhood. Mr. E. T. Dodge, the chief partner in the firm represented by the deceased Clegg, came up shortly afterwards, and was very much affected by the sad intelligence. He immediately offered a reward of $2000 for the apprehension of the two villains, the authorities also offering $500. The whole population of that section were out in pursuit, and it was confidently expected they would be caught. Mr. Barnard, who arrived last evening, and who passed the scene of the murder three days after it occurred, informs us that the shot which killed Clegg must have been fired by the robber who had attacked Taylor, and while deceased was struggling with the other, the bullet entering at the back of the neck. A red fannel shirt, covered with blood, had been picked up; but as no bullet holes were in it, it is presumed the villain must have been wounded about the head or face, or else the blood must have proceeded from his victim. The former is the more probable when taken in connection with the finding of blood on the trail. Two men, supposed to be the robbers, were seen two or three days subsequently at the 74 mile post, where they entered a house and demanded bread from the Indian cook. The authorities are examining strangers as they arrive at Lillooet and Lytton, and quite a number of people are on the search, and it is to be hoped the issue will be satisfactory.

FROM CARIBOO.

Mr. Barnard left Richfield on the 28th and arrived at Yale on the morning of the 28th, making the trip in 8 days. He brought down $36,000 in treasure. There is no news of importance to record. He met the celebrated Victoria Escort at Vanwinkle on their way in.

ARRIVAL OF DIETZ & NELSON'S EXPRESS WITH $38,000.

Mr. Barnard arrived from Yale yesterday by the steamer Reliance with Dietz & Nelson's Express containing $38,000 in treasure, having brought down his own Express to Yale with $36,000. This makes $42,000 by Express and $12,000 in private hands since our last issue.

MORE TREASURE.—The str. Hope arrived from Douglas on Wednesday, bringing Dietz & Nelson's Express, with $4000. Mr. H. M. Cohn also came down with $12,000 in treasure.

AN ABORIGINAL BURGLAR.—An Indian, who is no stranger in the Police Court, broke into Mr. Claudet's house, corner of Mary and Agnes streets, on Thursday evening, and after turning the contents of trunks and drawers topsy-turvy, evidently in search of money, carried off two pistols, a bottle of gin, and several articles of clothing. He was arrested the same night with a pair of stolen trousers upon him, was examined on the following morning, and committed for trial at the fall assizes. It appears he was the same who stole a number of bottles of brandy from Mr. Pichet's store a few days prior.

HOTEL AT SODA CREEK.—Mr. Hendrick, a fortunate Caribooite, went up on Wednesday for the purpose of opening an hotel at the steamboat landing at the mouth of Soda Creek. The building, a commodious one, is nearly completed; and we understand Mr. H. has taken all the necessary stores and appliances for opening a first class hotel in that remote region.

GENERAL STUART OF ROYAL BLOOD.—Some one who signs himself "J. E. S." writes to the London Times, saying that the cavalry General J. E. B. Stuart is, he believes, descended from Alexander, son of William Stewart, of Castle-Stewart, Wigtownshire, Scotland, who was a grandson of William, second Earl of Galloway. The last survivor of the Castle-Stewarts bearing that name died this spring, and the Confederate General is now the only living representative of the family. The writer says that this spelling "Stuart" indicates only illegitimate descent from the kings of Scotland; and that the General is entitled to the dexter form, "Stewart," which is expressive of Simon Pure blood!

There are 900 clergymen in England who are registrars also, and who thus are able to cure a man in the flesh as well as in the spirit.

ANOTHER PLEASURE EXCURSION.

It was our good fortune to be one of a pleasure party of one hundred and fifty persons, who went round on the str. Governor Douglas to Burrard Inlet on Thursday last. The party was gotten up by Mr. J. T. Scott, partly to afford a number of the community an opportunity of enjoying the beautiful scenery presented by the inlet, and partly in consequence of its having been understood that the Admiral with the ships of war were there; and although the expectations were gratified so far as the former were concerned they were disappointed with respect to the latter, for up to that time no war-ship had disturbed the placid waters of that beautiful estuary. The day was a most favorable one for the occasion, for although the vessel, while outside, rolled sufficiently to afford the women and children a taste of that delightful sensation, sea-sickness, yet it was clear and pleasant all day; and no sooner had the king of day disappeared beyond the western horizon of the great Pacific than through the moon in all her refulgent beauty, throwing a silvery softening influence over the magnificent scene. The steamer landed at the "Pioneer Mills," giving those who felt disposed to step on shore an opportunity of seeing that establishment. "All aboard!" was soon screamed forth by the shrill steam-whistle, when, steaming up to Port Moody, the not uninteresting business of dining was commenced and lasted several hours, by which time the ship had been put about, to the no small disappointment of some who were anxious to take a run up the North Arm, a branch of the inlet running in a northerly direction for a distance of about 11 miles, and the scenery of which is said to surpass that of the main inlet.

No sooner were the tables relieved of their load than the grand saloon was cleared for terpsichorean amusement. Fortunately our friends of the Royal Engineers had been thoughtful enough to bring along the indispensable musical instruments, and in an amazingly short time ladies and gentlemen were seen whirling round in the mazes of the dance. This amusement commenced at 8 o'clock and was kept up without intermission or flagging until half-past 11 o'clock, when the steam whistle announced our arrival at the Pioneer wharf. Three hearty cheers, each for the officers of the good steamer, and Mr. J. T. Scott, the originator and manager of the party, rung out upon the still night, when all hastened away to receive the welcome greeting of friends who awaited their return. Too much praise cannot be awarded to Mr. Scott for the manner in which this party was arranged and carried out. Everywhere was he to be seen during the day engaged in administering to the comfort and amusement of others; and right well did he succeed. Those frigid party distinctions were completely broken down for the nonce, and all classes and sex appeared to have abandoned themselves to social intercourse and harmless amusement.

*The following brief description of this little estuary by Capt. Richards, R. N., may not prove uninteresting:—

"The North Arm, just before reaching Port Moody, and 3 miles above the Second narrows, branches off from the main inlet, and runs in a general northerly direction for 11 miles. It is entirely different in its character from other portions of the inlet. The depth of water varies from 50 to 110 fathoms, and it is enclosed on both sides by rugged mountains rising from 2,000 to 5000 feet almost perpendicularly, and down the steep sides of which the melting snow in summer forces its way in foaming cascades, rendering the surface water in the inlet below all but fresh.

An island lies within a mile of the head of the arm, on either side of which there is a deep but narrow channel; that to the eastward is the widest; the head terminates in a delta of swampy rushes, through which some rapid streams find their way into the inlet from a deep and narrow gorge in a N.W. direction.

There is scarcely sufficient level land in this arm to pitch a tent, nor is there any anchorage except in a narrow creek 2 miles within the entrance, on the eastern shore, named Bedwell bay, where from 7 to 9 fathoms may be found near its head. The breadth of the North arm at the entrance is nearly a mile; a mile within it is contracted to a little over 2 cables, when it shortly opens out again, and maintains an average breadth of two-thirds of a mile to the Island near the head."

SABBATH SCHOOL PIC-NIC.

Shortly after 11 o'clock on Wednesday a party of some fifty persons, mostly scholars and teachers of the Wesleyan Sabbath School, crossed over the river and landed upon Mr. Brown's ranch, where preparations were made to spend the day. Ample provision had been made for the inner man in the shape of a most excellent and profuse assortment of edibles, kindly provided by the ladies connected with the congregation. After partaking very freely of these good things the various amusements of the day were commenced and kept up with a zest which we have seldom seen equalled till the darkening shades of night warned the happy party that it was time to go. To the Rev. Mr. Browning, pastor of the Church, Mr. Hannah, the Superintendent, and the teachers and office-bearers of the school is due much credit for affording to these young people so joyous a day; and they must have been fully repaid for their trouble in seeing how thoroughly every one enjoyed the occasion, and the pleasing harmony with which every part of the programme passed off.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

John Denis McKee was arraigned before J. Boles Gagen, S. M., for selling whiskey to an Indian. The case being fully proved he was fined $100, or four months imprisonment in hard labor. After three days imprisonment in the jail the fine was paid and the prisoner liberated.

Henry Simes was also arraigned to-day for feloniously stealing a piece of silk, value $16, from James McEnherne, of this town. He was convicted, and under the "Summary Jurisdiction Act" was sentenced to 4 months imprisonment with hard labor.

Our respected Magistrate, J. Boles Gagen, has been very much absent from Douglas this last month, having been obliged to attend to his arduous duties in a distant part of his district, on the Pemberton Portage, where he has a large party of men repairing the roads and making a very permanent wharf and landing place at Port Pemberton. He is determined to repress crime by inflicting summary punishment in all cases brought before him, which, to the credit and good behaviour of the inhabitants, is mostly confined to strangers arriving en route to the upper country. There were also one or two persons fined for having too freely indulged in spirituous liquors.—Cont.
Douglas, B. C., Aug. 22, 1863.

Ludicrous Mistake.

A Frenchman newly arrived in London, impatient to see the town, but fearful of not finding his way back to his hotel, carefully copied a card, the name painted on the wall at the corner of the street in which it was situated. This done he felt himself safe, and set out for a ramble much upon the principle that is popularly known as "following one's nose." The whole day long he strolled and strayed to his heart's content; and weary at last, he jumped into a cab, and with the easy confidence of a man who feels perfectly at home, he read from the card he had so prudently preserved the name of the street he dwelt in. The cabman grinned horribly. "The English pronunciation is sadly difficult," said the Frenchman to himself "he does not understand me," and he placed the card before the man's eyes. "Cahy" grinned more than ever, gazed in his face, astonished face, and ended by sticking his hands in his pockets and roaring with laughter. Indignation on the part of the foreigner was rampant; he appealed to the passers by, who gravely listened to him at first, but upon beholding his card joined one and all in chorus with the coachman. The Frenchman now got furious, swore, gesticulated, stamped like a candidate for Bedlam. He went so far as even to threaten the laughers; a crowd assembled—everybody sympathized with him till they learned the circumstances of the case, when they forthwith joined in the infectious hilarity. Up came the police, the guardian angels of bewildered foreigners in London's labyrinth. The aggrieved Frenchman now felt sure of sympathy, succor, and revenge. He was never more mistaken. The policemen roared like the rest. They evidently could not help it. Compunction mingled with their mirth, but they nevertheless guffawed exceedingly. To what extremities the desperate Frenchman might have proceeded it is impossible to say, had not a gentleman acquainted with his language appeared upon the scene. He, too, laughed violently on beholding the card, and when he had spoken a few words to the little Frenchman, the latter laughed likewise, which was a signal for a commencement of the general hilarity. The address so carefully copied by the foreigner at the corner of the street, was the following: "Commit no nuisance."

AN ENGLISH NOBLEMAN FINED FOR COCKFIGHTING.—A young English nobleman, the Marquis of Hastings, has been convicted of the discreditable offense of cockfighting on the Sabbath, and sentenced to pay a penalty of £5; and three of his gamekeepers who had taken part in the brutal proceedings, were fined £2 each. The Marquis is not quite of age, and some allowance must, therefore, be made for the indiscretion he has committed; but it is a subject of regret that no higher penalty could be inflicted upon him than a paltry fine, so that he, a legislator in embryo, might be taught to respect the law. The Marquis appears to have formed degrading associations, and evil communications have corrupted his good manners. One of his companions, a certain "Young Jack Story," appears to have taken a prominent part in the cockfighting and to have vigorously sworn at his noble master for not putting the steel spurs properly on the fowls' heels. The estimable Jack then fixed the spurs so well that 5 or 6 cocks out of 17 were killed.

A BABY STORY.—A very curious baby story comes to us from New Jersey. A mother and her daughter were confined on the same day, each having a little son. In the bustle of the moment both babies were placed in the same cradle, and to the confusion of the mothers, when the youngsters were taken from the cradle they were unable to tell which was the mother's and which the daughter's son—a matter which, of course, must ever remain a mystery. The family is in the greatest distress over the affair.—N. Y. Home Journal.

PIONEER MILLS,

BURRARD INLET,
British Columbia.

THE SUBSCRIBERS, having completed their Saw Mill on the above Inlet, five miles above the first narrows, are now prepared to furnish FIR, CEDAR AND SPRUCE LUMBER.

EITHER ROUGH OR DRESSED.

—ALSO—
TONGUED AND GROOVED FLOORING,

in any quantity, delivered at the Mill, New Westminster, or Victoria, V. I., at prices considerably lower than those ruling at Puget Sound.

The quality of the timber on the Inlet is much superior to that either on the Sound or the Lower Fraser, and they can, consequently, engage to produce a better article of lumber.

Mr. P. Hick, of New Westminster, will receive orders, which will be promptly attended to.

NEW WESTMINSTER, SATURDAY, AUG. 29, 1863.

THE PUFF DIRECT.—You have probably heard of the fashion in which the blacking of a certain eminent man rose into universal fame. The eminent man hired four footmen of loud and fluent power of expression, and of brazen countenance. He arrayed them in gorgeous liveries; the livery of each being quite different from the other three. Then, each alone, from morning to evening they pervaded London; and this was what they did. When each footman saw a shop in which blacking appeared likely to be sold, he rushed into it with great appearance of excitement, and exclaimed in an excited manner, "Give me some of Snooks' blacking instantly." Snooks, it should be mentioned, was the name of his eminent employer. "Snooks' blacking!" said the man in the shop; "we never heard of it." "Not heard of Snooks' blacking!" exclaimed the footman; "why, my master won't let me black his boots with any other; and just now he is roaring at me for brushing his boots this morning with that of Stiggins. I must be off elsewhere and get Snooks' blacking forthwith." This interview naturally started the man in the shop; he began to think; "I must get some of Snooks' blacking; everybody must be using Snooks' blacking." And then, in the course of the day, the other three footmen severally visited his shop as the first had done; one exclaiming, "The Chancellor won't use anything but Snooks' blacking;" another, "His Grace won't use anything but Snooks' blacking;" the last (in crimson livery), "His Majesty won't use anything but Snooks' blacking;" the man in the shop took his resolution. He found out the factory of Snooks, and ordered a large quantity of his blacking.

INGENUOUS RASCALITY OF A FRENCH BEGGAR.—The Courier de Paris tells a story of a beggar who presented himself repeatedly at a certain coffee-house with a clarionette under his arm. "Will you allow me, gentlemen," he would say, in a humble tone of voice, "to play you a tune? I am no virtuoso, and, if you prefer, giving me a trifle, I will spare you the annoyance of listening to me." Of course, like Jim Baggs in the farce, he "knew the value of peace and quietness," and was willing to "move on" if he could get his shilling. Rather than be bored, the people paid their coppers willingly, and the musician went on his way, grateful. This happened several evenings in succession. At length the caprice struck one of the beggar's benefactors to have a tune, good or bad, from the obsequious itinerant.

"I am afraid, sir," said he, "that I shall disappoint you." "Oh, never mind that; give us a tune, anyhow." "But I am a very poor player, and my instrument is none of the best." "No matter for all that; I have taken a notion to hear you play." "Well, sir, since you insist upon it," said the poor devil, "I must confess to you that I don't play at all." Like Hamlet's friend in the play, he "knew no touch of it," and explained frankly that he carried the clarionette merely for the purpose of threatening people with a performance, unless they came down with the dust.

SCENERY IN JAPAN.—"Never in my wanderings in any other country," says Mr. Fortune, in his "Narrative of a Journey to the Capitals of Japan and China," "did I meet with such charming lanes. Nothing in England could be compared to them. Large avenues and groves of pines, particularly of cryptomeria—the Japanese cedar, and one of the most characteristic trees of the country—were frequently met with, fringing the roads and affording most delicious shade from the rays of the sun. Now and then magnificent hedges were observed, carefully clipped and trained to a great height. Everywhere the cottages and farm-houses had also a neat and clean appearance, such as is not to be observed in any other part of the East. The scene was always changing and always beautiful, hill and valley, broad roads and shaded lanes, houses and gardens, with a people industrious, but unoppressed with toil, and apparently happy and contented."

USES OF LABOR.—God has laid upon us many severe trials in this world; but he has created labor for us, and all is compensated. Thanks to labor, the bitterest tears are dried. A serious consoler, it always promises less than it bestows a pleasure unparalleled, it is still the salt of our pleasures. Everything abandons you—gaiety, wit, love—labor alone is always present, and the profound enjoyment it produces. It is like the sun—God has made it for the whole world.

"Young man, what's the price of this silk?" asked a deaf old lady of a young fellow in Tremont Row. "Seven shillings," was the reply. "Seventeen shillings," she exclaimed, "I'll give you thirteen." "Seven shillings, ma'am, is the price of the silk," replied the honest shopman. "Oh, seven shillings!" rejoined the lady, sharply, "I'll give you five."

THE POWER OF JAW.—The muscles of the human jaw produce a power equal to 434 pounds. This is only what science tells us, but we know the jaw of some of our lawyers is equal to a good many thousand pounds a year to them.

THE SUFFERER'S BEST FRIEND.
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

All Disorders affecting the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.

These Pills can be confidently recommended as the most simple and certain remedy for indigestion, flatulency, acidity, heartburn, colic, constipation, and all the many maladies resulting from disordered stomach or bowels. In all diseases it is of primary importance to set the stomach right. These Pills are purifiers, alteratives, and strengtheners of the stomach. They may be taken under any circumstances. Though powerfully tonic, and satisfactorily aperient, they are mild in their operation, and beneficial to the whole system.

Weakness and Debility, Nervous Irritability.

The wholesale effect exercised by these admirable Pills over the blood and fluids generally is like a charm in dispelling low spirits, and restoring cheerfulness. Their general aperient qualities well fit them for a domestic medicine, particularly for females of all ages and periods of life. They never betray any disagreeable irritating qualities; they quickly eject all impurities from the system, and regulate every function of the body, giving wonderful tone and energy to weak and debilitated persons, while they brace and strengthen the nervous system in a most extraordinary manner.

To Regain Health, Strength and Vigour.

Whenever persons find themselves in that state termed a "little out of health," and there are so many causes at work to shorten life, it is necessary that Holloway's Pills, the finest purifier of the blood ever known, should be at once taken, as they not only rid both solids and fluids of all morbid matters, but regulate all disordered actions, and strengthen the frame in a most extraordinary manner.

Old Coughs, Colds and Asthmatical Affections.

These Pills, assisted in their action by rubbing Holloway's Ointment very effectually twice a day upon the throat and chest, and keeping those parts covered with the preparation, will be found the most effectual remedy for asthma, coughs, colds, bronchitis, and influenza. These remedies tranquilize the hurried breathing, soothe the irritated air-tubes, and assist in dislodging the phlegm which stops up the air-passages. This treatment has proved wonderfully efficient in not only curing old settled colds, but asthma of many years standing, and even when patients who were in so bad a state as not able to lie down on their beds lest they be choked with phlegm.

Derangement and Distention of the Bowels, Flatulency Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

Any symptoms of the above complaints should be immediately met by appropriate doses of these Pills, according to the printed directions: delay may be followed by disastrous consequences. These Pills are a certain remedy for all the ailments of the alimentary canal, they secure the thorough digestion of the food, and act most kindly on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys. As a household medicine they are unrivalled, and should always be at hand.

Very Important, of Costiveness Beware.

Rarely but little notice is taken of costiveness, yet, at certain periods, it is a sure sign that danger is near. All who are seized with apoplexy and paralysis, have previously suffered from costiveness. In the former case the blood flies to the head, a small vein is ruptured on the brain, and we know the result. Let wives counsel their husbands, and husbands their wives, never to go to bed a second night, if the bowels have not been properly moved during the day, particularly if they feel heavy and drowsy. A few gentle doses of these fine Pills will regulate the circulation of the blood, and all dangerous symptoms.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following diseases:—
